Research topic	Description
UT3-/ Regaining equilibrium: education, beauty and community against the anxiety of the future	Nothing enchants and invigorates the soul quite like moments of pure beauty; in a world obsessed with profit and utility, the significance of beauty tends to be overlooked, especially in psychotherapeutic theories and methodologies. The contemporary reorganization of educational systems creates an unprecedented emotional landscape, where students find themselves caught in the grip of competition, in order to achieve a secure and socially valued future. As a result, we can observe an increase in cases of depression, anxiety attacks and a profound sense of inadequacy, accompanying them throughout their education, from school years to university studies. This project therefore aims to convey a disinterested, altruistic education that values beauty as an educational tool, to foster an authentic community in partnership with local institutions.
Obligations for enrollees	Attendance of PhD teaching activities; a minimum of 3 months of research experience abroad.
